STOW, OHIO No. 49

MINISTER'S COLUMN

1934 is slipping like a ship swept along by the rapids and the Niagara in sight, helpless to stop or turn aside. So soon the plunge and the end of that voyage. The yard stick that has measured off the events of our yesterdays is now laid aside. I have never been of a gay or hilarious mood when passing the mile-stones of life, rather the sobering thought has quieted my spirit. Mile-stones go by so quickly, their number to each human life is few, as we travel on we almost gasp that a year has slipped by. I would rush madly to the mountain top and call the years back, but the only answer would be the echo of my bitter cry. Perhaps kindly providence knows best, laws past our finding cut have their stern and unchanging ways in pushing us on and on across the stretch of time called life, and past a station marked Death on and still on into eternity. Let us not dwell too much in the past, the history of the world has much of shame, cruelty and sorrow and many things to be forgotten. Let the old wreck plunge and many of its memories fade from our minds. Humanity has many enemies, two of them may be, yesterday and tomorrow. Yesterday has remorse, regret, broken ties. Tomorrow brings apprehension, foreboding, fears of many kinds. So back of us and before us stalk these two ghosts, masquerading in the cloak of yesterday and tomorrow. Between these two eternities let us find ourselves today. My best today. Strong, courageous, with eye undimmed and soul undaunted, heart within and God o'er head, the past be gone, I refuse to be dragged down, discouraged or defeated by the enemies of the past. Today the mighty God breathes hope and strength into my spirit, with Him I walk to dare and to do, to conquer. Tomorrow, come what will, I refuse to cross the bridge till I come to it. Give me a night's rest, the rejuvenating properties of sleep, at day dawn, by God's assisting grace, we will wrestle with the task. Refuse my brother to be downed by that thief that steals the sunshine out of tomorrow. Let us take the best things from the years that have gone, use them as stepping stones in crossing over to something better. Come up out of the night into the new year, tear away the crepe and gloom, refuse to believe that our longings, our hopes, our glory is drowned and forever lost in the black mysteries of the past. Resolve that for my own soul, for my home, my church, 1935 shall, God helping me, be a decided adoverlook this occasion. No doubt the Devil would be pleased to have us forget about it permanently. He will no doubt suggest to us reasons why we should not attend. But let us come and get started with that program outlined at the Church Night meeting. Let us have that Prayer Meeting, Bible Training Class on Thursday nights. Let us have a report from the committee on the insurance plan, and some words of wisdom from the Trustees. And Mr. Lodge don't forget to appoint a committee to secure coffee and cream for Stein, Monteith, and others who require it.

P. S. Would not it be a good plan for the Church secretary to write a personal letter to each church family requesting their presence on these important occasions.

P. S. No. 2. Notice to all. Please don't forget Sunday of the new year. Come to church with your pocket book loaded and leave the load on the collection plate. Pay off the Church debt in January.

PERSONAL ITEMS,

NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS,

CHRISTMAS NOTES, ETC.

Act on those good motives.

Resolve to attend church regularly during 1935.

And here is one for ourselves. Pay your bills. Get out of debt. "Owe no man anything". Romans 13-8.

Christmas Eve Al Stein and his truck (?) started out at 10:00 P. M. with the choir who sang Christmas Carols until twelve or one o'clock. Among the places visited were Osmans, Dunns, Shakespears, DeRusha's, Cross's and Stahls.

While listening to men talk, some of them active in church and Sunday School work, probably with four out of five, we think of the following commandment: "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain. Ex. 20:7. Can you guess why this verse comes to our mind?

And occasionally we meet a young man which makes us think of either one or both of the following verses: "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging and whosoever erreth thereby is not wise." Prov. 20:1; also, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap". Gal. 6:7. Then quite often we realize "that a fool and his money are soon parted." How many fools there are in this world.

LOST: Black Boston and Bag some place between Stow and Akron. Contains ladies clothing; gentlemen's shaving tools. Worth-while reward offered for return of same to 180 Williamson Road, or call WA 9463. (adv)

Jack Marhofer, our local Chevrolet Dealer, was over at Detroit this last week end. The occasion was a Dealer's Banquet and a pre-showing of the new 1935 models. He says the new Chevrolet is "some automobile".

Sunday 2:45 P. M. January 6th, 1935 is the time of dedication of the Lakeview Community Church at Old Home Road and Oakwood Drive, East Akron. Mrs. Winifred W. Dague is the Pastor. Rev. Hulme and our choir will help in the exercises. Those of the choir who have signified their intention of going are the Cross family, George and D. Dike, Foster Con-

New Years day the Monteith family will visit a cousin of Mr. Monteith, Henry Straub of Wadsworth.

Al Stein and family were at home Christmas day the last Sunday they were in Coshocton County.

Early last Monday morning Mr. Davis, son-in-law of A. H. Moon, Hudson Road, as he drove his team and wagon on to the highway to go to work, was smashed into by a speeding car. Both Mr. Davis and the car were injured. The wagon was wrecked.

One week ago on Thursday two hundred and twenty-five children of the unemployed of Stow were entertained with a party at Meadowbrook inn. It is reported that they had a wonderful time, each child receiving two pounds of candy and nuts. There were twenty-nine large Christmas cakes consumed, two hundred fifty Eskimo pies, as well as coffee by the adults.

And how did you like the "All Community" service at the High School last Sunday evening. Favorable comment on the individual numbers was general, tho several persons thought the whole

STOW FIRE DEPARTMENT

A few words for this organization:

On the first of January the Fire Department truck goes back to the maker unless the god people of Stow can raise $400 or the promise of such by that time, therefore, an appeal is made to all good citizens to open up their purses and when a representative of the Fire Department comes to see you don't give him the cold shoulder, but either donate or subscribe generously. There is now about $3000 invested in the truck, it would be too much of a loss to let it go back. The township trustees are helping all they can, but the Fire Department boys need more help than that which it is possible for the trustees to give. It has been pointed out that as long as we have a truck, in case of a serious fire, we can call on Akron, Cuyahoga Falls or any neighboring fire department for assistance. This makes the possession of a first class truck of double value. Let us keep the truck.

In our many friends and customers a
