THIS SAME JESUS

"This same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven." Acts 1:11.

This very definite prophecy of the personal return of our Lord, was given by angels, from heaven, to the group of believers who had accompanied their risen Savior as far as Bethany, and had seen him ascend into heaven to be received by the cloud.

To most people, even to many Christians, there is a tendency to look forward with dread, to the return of Christ. For this tendency to look forward with dread, to the return of Christ. For this reason many try not to think of it at all, while scoffers try to ridicule the whole idea. However, no other event is referred to so many times in scripture. God does not waste time, or space, to so emphasize anything which He does not deem important. If He thinks it of such importance, who are we to esteem lightly?

It is rather for us to give ourselves to a careful study, of the word, so that we may have a better understanding of this wonderful event, which, in the light of those other events, which are prophesied to accompany it, must now be near at hand.

First let us notice that this event is always spoken of as one of joy and comfort for the believer. Why should this be so? A study of some of the miracles, which Jesus performed, should, I believe, be of help. Each one is a type of some phase of our salvation security, service and rapture.

Let us look first at Matthew 8:3. Here we see a leper cleansed by the touch of Jesus. Leprosy is the best physical type of sin, which we can find. It creeps in unnoticed. It steadily progresses in the possessing of his victim. There is no human cure. The final end is death. But, at the touch of Jesus its power is broken. Its victim is released, cleansed and may now enjoy fellowship with those already clean.

This same Jesus is coming again.

Next let us examine Matthew 9:29, where two blind men receive sight, at His touch. Here, we have a type of the spiritual sight, which Jesus gives. After we have been cleansed from the leprosy of our sin, He opens the eyes of our understanding, so that like the psalmist we may behold "wondrous things out of Thy law." This same Jesus is coming again.

Now, let us go with Him into the dessert place near to the sea of Galilee. A multitude has been following Him, so intent on hearing His words that they have had no food for at least one whole day, and with no immediate prospect of any more, soon. But Jesus took the meager supply at hand, and with His blessing break it and gave to His disciples, who in turn fed more than five thousand waiting individuals. He thus shows us that when we distribute that which He has broken to us, we, too, shall be able to satisfy the spiritual need of hungry waiting hearts.

The next miracle follows the other so closely, that I like to consider them together. After the feeding of the multitude, He went up into a mountain to be alone with the Father, while the disciples entered a boat and went out on the sea. Struggling against a contrary wind, the disciples were doing their utmost, but were still only in the midst of the sea, when in the fourth watch of the night, Jesus came to them, walking on the sea. Peter asked to be bidden to walk on the water to Jesus and at His command, Peter starts to walk to Him. All went well, until he took his eyes from Jesus, then he began to sink. Now a sea, lake, river or other large body of water, in scripture, is a type of the world. But Jesus said "fear not I have overcome the world." Today, in the midst of the worst spiritual condition known to man, we, too, can be overcomers, as long as we keep our eyes fixed on Him and off of the world. This same Jesus is coming again.

Let us go with Him again, as He approaches the village of Nain. Here comes the funeral procession of a widow's only son. But, Jesus touches the dead boy. He is restored to life. And now from the dead hopes of deepest despair springs joy unbounded. This same Jesus is coming again.

Finally, we see Him as He stands before the tomb of Lazarus, and in the voice of authority commands, "Lazarus come forth". And Lazarus, a type of all the dead in Christ at His appearing, comes forth to life. This same Jesus is coming again.

But He will come as He went. Luke 24:50, 51 tells us that it was as He was blessing them, that He was parted from them. He went up, in the act of pronouncing a blessing upon the body of believers. He will "so come in like manner." May we all be ready and looking for this glorious event, so that like John we shall cry out: "Even so come Lord Jesus"?

Ed. Note: The following poem by Mrs. Nichols was given on the occasion of the farewell dinner for Rev. and Mrs. Hulme. It was prepared for publication by Mrs. Bertha Schnee.

FAREWELL

The time has come to say farewell
To our Minister, kind and true.
How can we hope in a few words to tell

How we'll miss him and his good wife, too?

Of Mrs. Hulme, we pause to say,
Her friends we'll always be.
Sweet and patient, her kindly ways
Have endeared her to us all, you see.

For years our pastor has served us
all,
Faithful and loyal and good.
Never too weary to answer a call
Doing the best that he could.

Serving his Master through storm
and cold—
Christ and his Church above self;
Trying his people's natures to mold
Like Jesus he loves so well.

Though he is leaving us, we're sure
The good that he's done, will grow
Like that other Life, so sweet and pure,
He's strived to make us know.

Think not his work with us is done,
His influence with us o'er.
Ah, no, 'tis only just begun—
The good, man does, lives evermore.

"MEN may come and men may go, but I go on forever,"
sang the mill stream.
Our lives are dedicated to a service that shall always be a service of Sincerity.

Though we must say farewell just now,

Our beloved pastor he'll ever be.
We'll remember him when our
heads we bow,

May God bless him, is our plea.

STOW G-I HOMECOMING

The committee in charge of invitations for the GI Homecoming celebration has struck a snag in being unable to find the present address of many Stow GI's. It was planned to send personal invitations to all members of armed forces who left for the services from the Stow area.

In view of this difficulty, the committee has decided to intensify their efforts to make certain that news of the celebration is brought to the attention of all GI's. Arrangements are being made to erect a large street banner which Eddie Parsons has agreed to hang in a prominent location in Stow. In addition to this, a number of posters will also be printed and displayed in prominent positions in the area.

Mr. F. B. Bailey, general chairman of the celebration, requests that all readers of this notice cooperate with the committee in

THE ART OF GETTING ALONG

Sooner or later, a man, if he is wise, discovers that life is a mixture of good days and bad, victory and defeat, give and take. He learns that it doesn't pay to be a sensitive soul; that he should let some things go over his head like water off a duck's back.

He learns that he who loses his temper usually loses out. He learns that all men have burnt toast for breakfast now and then, and that he shouldn't take the other fellow's grouch too seriously. He learns that carrying a chip on his shoulder is the easiest way to get into a fight. He learns that the quickest way to become unpopular is to carry tales and gossip about others.

He learns that buck-passing always turns out to be a boomerang, and that it never pays. He comes to realize that the business could run along perfectly well without him. He learns that it doesn't matter so much who gets the credit so long as the job is done.

He learns that all people are human and that it doesn't do any harm to smile and say "Good Morning," even if it is raining. He learns that most of the other fellows are as ambitious as he is, that they have brains that are as good or better, and that hard work and not cleverness is the secret of success. He learns to sympathize with the youngster coming into the business, because he remembers how bewildered he was when he first started out.

He learns not to worry when he loses an order because experience has shown that if he always gives his best his average will break pretty well. He learns that no man ever got to first base alone, and that it is only through cooperative effort that we move on to better things.

He learns hat bosses are not monsters, trying to get the last ounce of work out of him for the least amount of pay, but that they are usually fine men who have succeeded through hard work and who want to do the right thing.

He learns that folks are not any harder to get along with in one place than another, and that the "getting along" depends about ninety-eight percent on his own behavior.

Wonder how many of the World War II boys and girls will be at the Stow "Welcome Home" party on September 7th?

Richard Atkins, Eddie Atzenhofer, John Barkocv, Ernest and Vernon Clapp, the Corleys, Charles Kilbourne, Bill Henry, Delton Lee, Bill and Carl Gouglar, Bob Lowery, Harold Justice (his brothers-in-law and Palmer and Ackworth cousins), the Schlaubs, Earl, Bob, Howard and Bill. Jim Anderson, Neil Irwin, the Stockmans, Lerov Owen, Roy Shroyer, the Maxwells, Kutinsky trio, Donald Matjunas, Paul Yeager, Charles Hall, Herman Sharpnack and of course the Mayor of Fish Creek's four grandsons; the above mentioned are some of the local lads on His Honor's military correspondence list. Most of them have stopped in to say "hello—how are you" or called while passing by to say "I'll be seein' you" and what a heart warming sight and welcome sound to see a wave of the hand or hear a honk of the horn as they go by on way to and from their newly picked up home activities, pleasures, schooling and postwar jobs.

Yes, how many will be there and who-all will be there to welcome them. Some overseas many, many months; some never leaving the states, all so very, very welcome back home. Let's all get together if possible at this Sept. 7th "Welcome Home" party.

Mrs. J. E. Shroyer spent last Friday in Goodyear Heights with Mrs. Richard Williams, a girlhood friend, both formerly from Ravenna. What a gabfest and day of shopping too.

Little Miss "Vickie Lee" brought her Mommie home from the Akron hospital last week to Daddy Victor Arnold and brother Allen. Since she only arrived in Summit County August third she is at present the youngest village belle.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Johnson and daughter moving into the neighborhood last week from Kent and Cuyahoga Falls are the newest neighbors. Coming from two towns sounds complicated but not these days of housing shortages when goods are stored in various places while waiting to occupy newly purchased homes.

Paul Yeager, Charles Hall both home from the Navy this month also out of the Navy David Kutinsky joined his discharged twin Marvin from Navy just eight hours too late to meet his brother Ralph's bride.

Yes, "Sonny" Kutinsky, marrying Josephine Sfair in Detroit last Saturday flew to the Akron airport where they were met by relatives and escorted to the home of their parents, the George Kutinskys, who gave a family party at their East Kent-Stow Rd. home that evening, entertaining close friends and war time buddies. One of the latter came with his bride from Cleveland. He, Ed McCalligan was a fox-hole pal of Ralph's when they were American Rangers in the Italian campaign. Ralph reported Ed being the "life of the party" when all were shivering in their proverbial boots, always bringing a laugh to all when morale most needed boosting. The groom is a city bus driver in Detroit to which city he will take his bride when honeymoon trip of well known "unknown destination" is over.

The Riggs' four with Grandma Peterson from Pittsburgh recently came back home only to find the corner Brittans had gone to farm of Streetsboro Brittan relatives, so they shared their ice cream treat with Uncle Fred Coffeen from him learning way to the fore mentioned Portage County farm, where they joined members of their adopted Brittan family and went 'a fishin' too. And how eight year old Martha and five year old Edith crowed over their fisherman father when they gleefully caught fish before he did, but he showed 'em he too could haul out or in miniature minnows. Prize catch being the small turtles each small Riggs' took home for pets. It sure did everyone a lot of good to be 'a-meetin' again.
