START YEAR WITH NEW CHARTER

VILLAGE OFFICIALS SWORN IN SATURDAY

Stow's new charter went into effect last Saturday night at 8 p.m. when village officials were sworn into office and council held its first meeting.

After a prayer for guidance by the Rev. Kenneth L. Downing, Charles H. Monteith was sworn into the office of mayor by Herman E. Werner.

The mayor, in turn, administered the oath of office to incoming councilmen Grover Shuman, Edward Montgomery, Lawrence Saltis, Thomas Clarke, Walter Kimpton, Earl Garver, and Wilson Coon.

Council then convened, electing Grover Shuman its president and Wilson Coon vice president, both unanimously.

The new council passed its first ordinance, approving appropriation of funds for 1960's first quarter expenses. A permanent budget will be set up by the end of that period.

Council appointed Mrs. Betty J. Thompson Director of Finance and Herman E. Werner Law Director.

Mayor Monteith made the following appointments with the approval of Council:

Stow Library Holds Census

A census of book borrowers, and a new system of registering patrons of the Stow Public Library by address and occupation, are under way under the direction of librarian Mrs. Hugh Saviers.

Since Oct. 22 some 2,000 new library cards have been issued, with 1,500 to go before the complete survey of readers is finished.

"The purpose of listing readers' occupations is to help us evaluate our book collection in relation to our readers' main interests," Mrs. Saviers said. "For instance, if we find there are an unusual number of chemists or advertising men living here, we will purchase more books on their specialty. We could also compile bibliographies.

Scared Pup Causes Crash on Route 5

Mrs. June Smith's pity for a frightened small dog caught in traffic and the Good Samaritan instincts of another Stow family ended in a three-car collision on Route 5 near Silver Lake which hospitalized two persons Dec. 30.

Carl Miller, 38, of 3613 Lakeview Blvd., Stow, was charged with reckless operation after the automobile he was driving struck Mrs. Smith's car, Silver Lake Police Chief Clarence Linnard reported.

Treated and released at Akron City Hospital were Mrs. Smith, wife of Stan Smith, 1939 Hawthorne Ave., Stow, for a lacerated right hand above the knuckles and broken blood vessels in the head, and Danny Dreher, 15, of Alice Ave., Brunswick, O., for a sprained right hip and bruised shin.

Mrs. Smith told police she was in the right traffic lane when the dog ran in front of her car. She applied the brakes but felt a 'clump.'

She said the grey wire haired terrier wearing a jeweled pink leather collar darted back under her car and she got out and tried to get the dog from underneath the car.

Police reported Mrs. Patricia Hell of 2007 King Dr., Stow, and her brother Danny Dreher saw Mrs. Smith kneeling and stopped beside her car.

The boy rescued the dog and he and Mrs. Smith were standing at the driver's side putting it in her car when the collision occurred, throwing them to the ground.

Mrs. Smith said, "The dog disappeared during the accident and nobody saw where it went. I was trying to rescue it and I'd like to hear that it got back home safely."

The impact bumped the Smith car into that of Claude C. Hamby of 1158 Manning Ave., Akron, who had stopped just ahead of Mrs.

LET'S GET TOGETHER!

Wouldn't it be a great thing for Stow if we had a Community Clubhouse where all clubs and organizations in town could hold meetings, dinners and other social functions?

Many men pulling on a rope together in cadence can be a pretty big 'heave-ho'.

Many clubs together could build a pretty big building for common use.

Birmingham, Michigan, Detroit suburb, has a beautiful example of such a building, built with such cooperation.

It's something to think about...talk about...and if enough clubbers agree, something we can all do something about.

of certain fields."

The survey to date shows more adult patrons than children, with only some 30 college students registered.

A map of Summit County will show the address of each household represented among cardholders marked by colored dots. Mrs. Saviers said, the map shows readers from Stow, Silver Lake, Munroe Falls, Akron, Tallmadge, and Cuyahoga Falls, with a few from Bath, Peninsula and Macedonia and the borderline of Kent and Hudson.

Under the former card system several persons in the same family often used the same library card but with the reregistration each individual is being issued his own card.

A new $1,000 circulation desk with a well to accommodate the check out machine is now in operation, facilitating the work, Mrs. Saviers said.

She has been a librarian here since 1949 and received her Bachelor of Science degree from Kent State University.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

In case you may think a summons and a warrant are the same thing, you may be interested to know that they are alike only in that they both mean 'you must come.'

A warrant says, in effect, 'Come with me! Now!' (Or at a date specified on it.)

A summons says, 'Come in the future at such and such a time.'

If you ignore a summons, you may be found guilty of contempt of court, and then served a warrant!

1960! Could it be? What happened to the old year? The year that seemed so far away when we were freshmen is here. The year of our graduation. As I look back over the past year, I see some good times.

The class plays, Nan Gaylord as a grouchy old dean and Bud Weeks as the distinguished professor; the prom with the oriental lanterns and tea tables; the homecoming, when lucky Bob Cueni crowned Linda Henderson; the Christmas Formal, you all remember that; the football and basketball games, our wins and losses; the wrestling tournaments; just a continuous circle of good times. Of course, when there wasn't anything else going on we could always do our homework. It was a pretty busy year for most of us and there's a strong promise of more to come.

Speaking of more to come, I have some more news about the play. The cast has been chosen and they are a good bunch of hard working kids. Pam Weber has the part of Lizzie, the maid; Nan Gaylord is Agnus Carol and Jim Cole is Howard Carol; Marilyn Case will play the part of Joan Carol, the oldest daughter, age 18; Mary Lou Hackett is Jeanne Carol, age 16; and Linda Seese is Ginger, age 14, Jim Savory is Tommy Green, Ginger's boy friend; Adrian Bohl is Ed Hoffman, bank president and Howard Carol's boss. There are two parts yet to be decided upon, Eddie Davis who is Joan's athletic boy friend and Mr. Wilson, high school principal.

Just to make sure 1960 will be even better than '59 here are twelve wishes.

- (1) My wish to January is that you all find good results after exams.
- (2) My wish for February is that you will enjoy the play that will be the best yet.
- (3) My wish for March is that there will be enough days to take care of the social events the various clubs have planned.
- (4) My wish for April is that all the seniors have acceptance from the college of their choice.
- (5) My wish for May is a successful prom.
- (6) For June, my congratulations to all the senior graduates.
- (7), (8) For July and August, I wish the best summer yet, swimming, boating, golfing, vacationing, jobs. Take your pick.
- (9) For September, a welcome to all the new freshmen. May your years at Stow be as much fun as ours were.
- (10) For October, I wish for a very successful football and basketball season.
- (11) For November, a happy homecoming and Thanksgiving.
- (12) For December, a merry Christmas and a hope that all these wishes come true.

Smith when he saw she was in trouble.

Police said Miller was starting to pass a semi-tractor trailer in the right lane of traffic and was in the center lane when the truck started moving center and obstructed his view. It was reported Miller completed the pass, then saw another vehicle in the center lane and pulled to the right where the two parked vehicles were and struck the Smith car.

Richard Boggs, of 3929 Klein Ave., Stow, driver of the tractor trailer, said he saw traffic ahead of him pulling to the center and then saw the parked cars. He said his rear view mirror showed Miller pull out to pass him left of the center line, pull in front of him and then collide.

Way Back When

by Frank Green

YANKEE HUMOR

Nearly all of the early settlers in Stow township were Yankees, many of them from Middletown, Conn. This was the home of Joshua Stow. It was then a small town and all of his neighbors knew this smart little Yankee well. Like his cousin William, several of them dickered with him in trading their homes in that town for land in his township.

Perhaps all of you don't remember that Connecticut is called the Nutmeg State because some clever traders sold wooden nutmegs for the real thing. I hope you will like these true stories out of my memory.

Eli Gaylord was of the third generation from Connecticut. He lived all his life in Stow. Uncle Eli, as we all called him, was a slender, sharp nosed man. His wife, Mary Wolcott, was short, fat and jolly.

They were charter members of the Disciples Church. He was a deacon for many years. Both of them read their Bible and could quote it at length. They were friendly, hospitable people. Constant in support of their church, they supported it financially as well as a thrifty Yankee could. When the Disciples in their part of Ohio met in Stow for their convention (yearly meetings) the Gaylord house and haymow too were filled with visitors. Chickens were slaughtered and the sweet cream skimmed from pans.

But Eli Gaylord had an instinct for a bargain. If a neighbor dickered with him he did it at his own risk.

This nice old Yankee couple loved games. They played croquet under the shady maples in their yard. Aunt Mary was so fat that she waddled. She had a comfortable chair outside to sit in between plays. She beat her skinny husband often as she did in the wintertime at checkers or dominoes. They celebrated their golden wedding in 1888. Aunt Mary died the next year.

Here is a nice example of Eli's caustic Yankee humor. One of his sons had a good sized family. He asked his father to name one of the babies. The old man gruffly said, "Call it Enough".

Some of you will like this rhyme. I quote from memory. Don't know who wrote it.

Coming down from Bangor on an Eastern train,

From a six weeks shooting in the woods of Maines.

Sat a student fellow,

Quite extensive whiskers, beard, mustache as well,

Sat a student fellow, tall, fine and swell.

Empty seat behind him, none at his side,

To a pleasant station now the train does glide.

Enter aged couple, take the hinder seat,

Enter gentle maiden, slenderly petite,

Blushingly she falters, is this seat engaged?

See the aged couple properly enraged.

Student quite ecstatic, sees her ticket through,

Thinks of the long tunnel, thinks what he might do.

So they sit and chatter while the cinders fly,

Till that student fellow gets one in his eye.

"Will you, if you please, sir, let me try to get it out?"

Happy student fellow feels a dainty touch,

Hears a gently whisper, "Does it hurt you much?"

Enter lengthy tunnel, black as Egypt's night,

Out darts the Eastern train into broad daylight.

And then for all to see appeared,

A cunning little earring, caught in students' beard.

Percolatin' With Peg

A friend of mine stopped by the other day and chided me mightily for what I happened to be doing - which was patching some of the kids' blue jeans.

'Why waste your time?' she asked. 'You can get new ones for only three dollars.'

I was amazed. 'But I've always patched them,' I ventured.

'Do you want your children to grow up feeling second best?' she accused. 'Not worthy of a new pair of jeans?'

She got me to wondering some. I didn't want patches on jeans to be a traumatic experience, whatever that is, for my boys. On the other hand, I was brought up in the 'make do' school. And on the third hand (if I may borrow one of yours for a minute) six pairs of jeans at $3 a throw would cost $18. Plus tax. Won't patched ones do for climbing trees and falling in creeks? Besides, the boys always seemed rather pleased when Mommy spent a little time fixing up something of theirs.

Maybe I'm wrong? Am I old-fashioned, living out of my era? It took me about 20 minutes a piece to fix those jeans - that's a total of 120 minutes, or two hours. Where else can I make $9 an hour?

And I do make such nice patches. I tried the iron-on kind, but they kept curling off, so I went back to sewing. They're really a challenge if you don't baste and do them by machine. It's pretty tricky to sew square corners halfway up the leg of a narrow pair of pants without sewing the front of the knee to the back.

You'd never guess how I learned, so I'll tell you. When I was a very young bride I fell for the line of an encyclopedia saleswoman. My new husband almost passed away from shock, but by the time he got home I had signed all the papers and had been reading for hours.

(Suggested by Summit County Agricultural Extension Service)

Somewhere in the S volume was a long treatise on sewing, with excellent illustrations. Having my grandmother's treadle sewing machine, I've been patching ever since.

Who else do you know who learned to sew from an encyclopedia?

In spite of my friend, I think I'll keep up patching and make it up to the kids some other way.

And just wait till she sees my $18 shoes!

WILL YOUR POINSETTIA BLOOM AGAIN?

Place your poinsettia plant in a sunny window away from drafts and excessive heat. A temperature of 70 degrees is about right. Examine the soil once daily and keep it uniformly moist. When it starts to dry out, apply enough water to wet the soil to the bottom.

To carry your plant over for a second season, withhold water in January, February and March. In April, re-pot and cut it back, leaving about 6 inches on each branch. Start it into growth again by applying water to the soil.

If, from October 1 to Christmas, it is in a lighted room at night, it will not bloom. It should have only natural light during this period.

LANES LINGO

Dick Michelson, one of the owners of Sto-Kent Lanes, tried out his new bowling ball on New Year's Day. The first game he rolled with it racked up a score of 259, including 9 straight strikes! Dick's all-time high. He picked up his ball and quit for the day. 'That's starting the year out right.'

Hi league scores for the week were Bob Temperman, with 225, and Barb Waltenbaugh, 181.

HOOP SCOOP

Akron St. John's hoopsters downed Holy Family 24 to 21 on Jan. 2.

Holy Family will play Akron Immaculate Conception Saturday, Jan. 9, at 10:50 a.m. at St. Vincent's field house in Akron. The Stow team has chalked up one win against one loss in this season's play.

Local athletics have rested over the Holiday Season. The big attractions in sports were the Bowl games in which many of the top teams of the nation participated. The stunning upset of Washington over Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl was the big news. On the local sports scene the Stow Bulldogs remained idle as far as games were concerned but they managed a practice session or two in order to maintain the sharp edge that brought them victory in their last cage encounter.

Here is hoping that they can repeat that victory with regularity in the future.

The wrestling team at Stow High is also taking a brief respite over the holiday but they have been keeping trim and should be ready to face their next opponent.

SAFER AND SHINIER AT HIGH SCHOOL

A peek into the cafeteria-study hall to see new flooring.

This step is no longer a stumbling block.

Brand new fire hose sets minds at ease.

Stow High students were delighted to find several improvements had been made at school while they were on holiday.

The torn fire hose pictured several weeks ago in The Stow Press has been replaced. The broken step in the auditorium is solid and strong.

Best of all is the change in the cafeteria. The floor has been replaced by shiny new tile which looks much more sanitary than the old flooring, and the walls have had a fresh coat of paint half way up.

As the cafeteria does double duty as study hall, pleasure in the fresh atmosphere lasts all day.

WHAT IS IT ?

This is a puzzle for those kindred souls who can't get away to Florida this time of year. Stow Press photographer Phil Long stopped to take a good look at winter.

You'll find this picture almost everywhere near you. If you still don't recognize it, turn the page upside down.

It may photograph like a piece of sponge rubber but this is a spot of frozen Stow. Look now -mod punors Stow

STOW LIONS PLAN MUSICAL

Stow Lions Club have chosen Saturday, January 23, for the night of their annual musical program.

Plans for a program similar to, but even better than last year's are in the wrap-up stage with barbershop quartets and the high school Glee Club as only two of the featured attractions.

A major money-making event for the Lions, the program will ultimately benefit the blind and those who need but cannot afford eye care.

they died...needlessly

Abraham Lincoln's boy died of a malarial infection. William McKinley died of peritonitis produced by a bullet wound. Calvin Coolidge's son died of an infection that developed in a blistered foot. A few dollars worth of drugs — drugs that didn't exist years ago — would have prevented these deaths.

These drugs are on our shelves.

The next time you need to get a prescription filled, bring it to:

That helpless feeling

Has it happened to you this winter—that helpless feeling when your car goes suddenly out of control on a wet, slippery pavement and an accident stares you in the face? All you can do is hope for the best—and depend on your insurance, which better be good.

It will be if we write it for you.
