To My Child On Mother's Day

The love you have learned from my circled arms, Was gently bequeathed by another, For I, in turn, learned the age old art, From the kindness and care of my mother,

So love unfailing goes on, my dear, The future in step with the past. But debts eternal are always paid, By the one who holds love to the last.

Way Back When ____ by Frank Green

Gregory Bowers (1738-1833)

The pioneers in Stow Township, with a few exceptions, came here from Connecticut with only one exception they were of British descent. Gregory Powers was an Italian, born in Naples.

General Biece in his tiny history of Summit Co. tells most of what we know of him. Mr. Bronson has added some de-tails about his family. Nothing is known of his early life. don't know when he came to New England. That he was a sailor and had accumulated some property is certain.

In 1775 when war with the parent country broke out Captain Powers was commissioned as a Privateer to prey on British vessals and actively engaged during the war. When William Wetmore in 1804 came to Stow Township to act as agent for Joshua Stow in the sale of his land Mr. Powers was in his party. His wife and seven children came with him. One more child was born after they came to Stow. The boy was born in 1807. Mr. Powers was then 69 years old. Mrs. Powers died at that time.

Her burial was the first adult one in Darrowville Cemetery and in Stow Township (1st burial in Stow Cemetery was in 1809).

Gregory lived 31 years, all in Stow, after that. His log house was near to the brook, named for him in Darrowville. He is said to have owned near to 1,000

Many stories are told of this excitable, eccentric old man. The land was heavily wooded. A problem of those early farmers was to get rid of the grand old hardwood trees quickly. . This story from Mr. Biece History gives you an insight into the character of this lively man. A young neighbor of his, Mr. Singletary, was cutting down trees. A quick way to fell them was to cut several of them in a row, partly off, and to cut one clear off and to crash it into the others. Singletary threw as many of the trees over onto Powers' I and as he could. Some time later one of the young fellows married one of Powers' daughters. At the wedding Gregory swore and said "Well....you played a dirty trick on me....now I am getting even."

It is said that Mr. Powers planted many of the lovely maples that have lined Darrow St. for so many years. As the log house, that he built, grew old and rotten, the old man left it and spent the last of his life in the home of his friend and neighbor, Josiah Stow. Josiah was just a boy when he came with him in Mr. Wetmore's

Here is one more story about Mr. Powers. It comes near the end of his life. He had Edwin Wetmore make his will. He specified exactly where he wanted to be buried. When Mr. Wetmore suggested that he should be When Mr. Wetmore buried beside his wife the old man swore and said, "We never got along in life how can we after we are dead?"

He had another freakish idea about his own burial. He wanted no part of his body to be put under ground. So he built the odd-looking stone vault that still stands near the front in Darrowville Cemetery.

Someone long ago told me that he said, "If the Devil comes in at one end I will go out at the other."

Only one of his eight children lived long in Stow. Charles Powers built the house where Edmund Gleason now lives at 4160 Darrow. *

May 6th at 8:00 p.m. in Stow High's Auditorium, it's the 1960 Festival of Bands! Yes, tomorrow night, the Stow Band Parents are sponsoring the second annual concert of all of Director J. Rex Mitchell's

The All-City Elementary Band will play several familiar tunes and marches. The Jr. High band will present pieces by Bach, Handel, and contempary com-posers. They're also playing an excellent arrangement of "Sentimental Journey" that I'm sure no one would want to miss! A transcription of a Bach prelude, Fillmore, and Sousa are a few of the selections the diligent workers in the Sr. High Band will please everyone Senior trumpetor, Jim Savory, will play "Have Horn, will Travel" by Robert Logan, with band accompaniment. Student director, Don Gray, is going to lead the band in Le Roy Anderson's "Blue Tango."

The Jr. Y-Teen dance, Seventh Heaven, last Saturday night, was a big hit! Our Stow High Audi-torium was disquised beautifully under the careful direction of the Jr. Y-Teens and Karen Kingan, chairman of the decorating committee. Suspended on wires across the ceiling were unique stars. They were some sort of balls with straws sticking out all over, and they were painted silver. There were big blue silver. There were big blue stars with silver glitter over each of the doorways where the attendants entered to make an aisle for Queen Barb Zuppa and King Denis Kuhlke. Blue lights shone down and two angels on the stage curtains behind their thrones looked on, while the royalty was crowned.

The Senior Class has selected Juniors Judy Thomas and Tom Shuster to lead the processional on Recognition Day and again for Commencement. Terry Moore and Lynn Jackson were selected to lead the processional for the seniors at Baccalaureate.

Last Friday night the Sr. Y-Teens were more "all wet" than usual. They had a swim party at the Falls Y.

Next Tuesday, May 10th is Class Day. This is a big special day for Seniors. We have an as-sembly and hear the will and prophecy of the "Mighty" seniors. It is something we're looking forward to.

Did you know that last week-end the Summit County PTA sponsored a Summit County Art Show at Polskys? Dolores Burdette received a blue, red and white ribbon for a portrait she did. Terry McIntyre won a red Dixie Henning, Sonny

LENA OSMAN: STOW'S PIE LADY

This success story grew out of black, lonely days that only a wife and mother of four growing children, suddenly made a widow can experience. How did a business venture like Osman Pies get started? all stemed from a determination Mrs. Osman made herself develop following the death of her husband back in 1941. She had never been out in the working world. Wasn't easy as she recalls, to force herself to meet the challenge of a new life for herself and her children.

Lena, a Stow resident for 33 years, first went to work at O'Neils in the bakery dept. where tea room baked goods were made. After 4½ years of gaining experience, she went to the Smorgasbord where she became head cook, making all the desserts for an additional 4 years of know-how. Then came a chance to bake at Bell's Diner across from General Motors, it was at this Diner that Lena purchased her first oven, taking special orders and developing an "Osman Pie" following. Eleven months later she began her own business, behind the barber shop at first and finally to the present location 3306 Kent Rd.

This plucky business lady, while holding on to a strong faith and praying for continued good health to enable her to carry on in this business venture, raised her three sons and a daughter, now boasts 10 grandchildren. Lena has a son Edward Harry, Captain in Air Force, stationed in Texas, this World War II pilot, making the Air Force his career, is married and has a son and a

"pies sell themselves", didn't even have a business telephone until 2 years ago. In the beginning Lena found it necessary to bake nearly round the clock, but now thanks to her dependable workers, she may take things a little easier, if you can call do-ing all the book work for this thriving business and putting in several days and Friday evenings baking taking it easy.

Perhaps you are curious to know which kind of pie is the best seller? Coconut cream is the answer. Pies are the main selling feature, also cakes made to order for special occasions, Lena took private cake decorating lessons in Painsville years ago. Operating two huge ovens, all kinds of pies go in and out and fresh fruit pies in season.

The system is the secret of a thriving business and Lena has a unique system of smooth operation. tion. Each pie is definitely "hand made" to every detail.

You wouldn't think this busy lady, who is past retirement age, could find time for outside activities but she was financial secretary for the Stow Community Church for 25 years, now is ac-tive in the Church Guild, member of the Stow-Silver Lake Business and Professional Women's Club. and Sil-O-Ettes help her to remain figure conscious.

Lena has maintained the family home, 3541 N. Sanford where the family grew to adulthood and had secret ambition recently fulfilled. Ever since as a child she enjoyed playing the piano. Lena has wanted to learn to play an organ. Recently, she purchased Hammond Electric Cord organ and after several lessons has enjoyed hours of relaxation sitting at the organ playing to her hearts content. That is, when hearts content. That is, when she isn't working a complete vegetable garden, canning and freezing the harvest each year.

Lena's message to others of her age is, "you're never too old to try!" Four years ago she took driving lessons and is so proud of her license - took her first plane trip to Texas last summer and will fly again anytime.

The pie-business is her life a new life she made for herself with fortitude and determination, a bright, happy, busy life.

Miss Cheryl Ann Spear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Spear, 2106 Marhofer Ave. became the bride of James K. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Robinson, 139 Forest Dr., Kent. The wed-ding was Sunday April 24 at 3:30 p.m. in the First Christian Church. A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the ceremony.

Miss Barbara Spear, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Davis and Miss Phyllis Modugno. Charles W. Robinson, brother of the bride-groom served as best man. Ushers were John Robinson, Raymond Naswadi, Jay Rhodes.

The new Mrs. Robinson has been employed as a typist for the Dial Finance Co., Akron, since graduation from Stow High School in 1957. Mr. Robinson, a grad-uate of Roosevelt High, is associated with an A & P Market, Akron, as assistant manager.

Having returned from a week's vacation trip to New York City, the couple has taken up residence at 90 Mosser Place, Akron.

Happy to hear Miss Margaret Coulter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kale Coulter, 3463 Adaline Dr. is on the mend after suffering a set-back and return to the hospital following a recent tonsilectomy.

Hattie Minier, Stow reporter for the Kent Record Courier, checked into Akron City Hospital Friday April 29. This trip means knee surgery. Her room number, for those friends wishing to send messages of cheer, is Medical G-330.

Mrs. Veda Adams, proprietor Adams Florists, received Greater Akron Women Florists at her residence, 1837 Rose Avenue, April 25. Guests were treated to a baked pork chop dinner. Residents at the corners of Rose and Darrow Road don't have to worry about getting a street lamp any longer. Veda's new sign lights up the corner very brightly.

The story relates how Junior Fire Marshals learn the basic rules of fire safety to help combat life and property losses from fire.

Entitled "Fun Spells Fire Prevention", the magazine article explains how elementary school children qualify as Junior Fire by inspecting their homes for fire hazards and completing a home inspection report with the help of their parents. The "Look" feature story is based upon the JFM Program in Hartford, Conn., where the yearround public service program was established in 1947 by the Hartford Fire Insurance Company, represented locally by the Spaght-Covella-Beckley agency. Hart-ford was selected by the magazine as a typical example of a community in which the safety campaign was conducted.

"No one can estimate the number of homes saved from firey tragedy by the Junior Fire Mar-shal Program", the "Look" article points out. "Nevertheless, a deep impression has been left on the 20-million children who have participated in the Junior Fire Marshal Program."

Bad Baseball Week

It was a bad week for the Stow baseball team. Three straight losses provided the worst week of the season. Coventry clipped the Bulldogs 8-6 Monday. Stow lost a thriller to Norton Wednesday by a 5-4 count. Stow stepped out of its league Friday to meet Kenmore. The move proved fatal as Stow dropped a 4-0 decision.

If you're a regular fan at Stow baseball games you're sure to have missed the presence of Coach Harold Sloop. Coach Sloop has moved on to bigger and better things. Mr. Sloop is now head Coach of Akron University's Varsity 9. Mr. Sloop cannot be officially recognized as head coach because he doesn't hold his Master's degree. But in reality Mr. Sloop is the big boss when the Zips take the field.

New Coach

Mr. Bob Sonnhalter, varsity basketball coach, has taken over Mr. Sloop's baseball coaching

ACCELERATED PROGRAM JAYCEES' CHARTER DINNER-DANCE FOR 7th GRADERS IN FALL OF '60

by Gene Dominic, Principal of Stow Jr. High School

September of 1960 will find Stow seventh graders in a new building, (Lakeview) and engaged in a new educational program. For the first time in the history of the Junior High School, students will be grouped according to ability and aptitude.

The primary purpose of the grouping is to present an accelerated and enriched curriculum to those students capable of such a program. A remedial tract will also be established in all subject areas to meet the needs of a pupil who may be deficient in one or more subjects. It is conceivable, that a pupil may be enrolled in the accelerated mathematics course and at the same time, be enrolled in the remedial language arts section.

The criteria for the grouping is listed below:

STANDARDIZED TESTS (Administered to all sixth graders) A. Stanford Achievement Test

B. Otis Intelligence 2. TEACHER RECOMMENDA-TION

GRADE ACHIEVEMENT

PUPIL AND PARENT CON-SENT

The standardized testing program is now being carried on in all of the Stow elementary schools under the direction of Mrs. Amy Fisher, Junior High guidance counselor. Once the results of these tests are known, sixth grade teachers will be consulted and comprehensive studies will be made of the test scores and the present achievement rate of pupils who may be eligible to be placed in the accelerated or remedial sections. The next step will be to have conferences between parents, pupils and Mr. Dominic, Junior High School principal. No child will be placed in the extreme groups until pupil and parent approval has been obtained.

Pupils placed in the accelerated mathematics section will find that they are expected to cover two years work, (seventh and eighth grade mathematics), in one school year. Students achieving success in the seventh grade mathematics course will then go on to take high school algebra in the eighth grade.

The advanced social studies and language arts sections will find their program one of enrichment rather than acceleration. More research, writing, and study will await students in these areas.

Students in the advanced sections will be expected to maintain a "B" average. Failure to meet this requirement will mean dismissal from the section. On the other hand, students in the average sections, (Eighty percent (80%) of the students will be in the average groups), will have the opportunity to be moved into an accelerated or enriched class.

The program is completely flexible in regard to students being moved from class to class.

The remedial section will be composed of students of average intelligence who may have encountered difficulty in a parti-cular subject. Individual and small group instruction on the pupil's achievement level will insure a correction of the deficiency which may exist. Students will be selected for this group with as much care as they are for the accelerated section. Flexibility is also insured on this level, for a student may conceivably be moved from the remedial to an average section. An average pupil, encountering difficulty, may be moved to the remedial group.

It should be understood that pupils will be placed individually into sections and will not necessarily have all accelerated. remedial or all average classes.

KILLERS OF CHILD

Diphtheria...Mastoiditis...scarlet fever...pneumonia! These were some of the big diseases - the big killers of children - a quarter-century ago. But today, we rarely hear of anyone dying from one of these diseases. The explanation? These diseases have been conquered by new drugs - drugs that were unknown 25 years ago - but are now found in every drug store.
